Chamberlain's Appeal for Voluntary Emigration Meets With Abundant Response.

London, April 16.-Applications for assistance and advice concerning emigration to South Africa have poured in at the offices of the United British Women's Emigration Association without ceasing since Mr. Chamberiain made his recent appeal that those ladies who were "suited by character, intelligence and cultivation to be fitting com-panions for the men would accompany the great male emigration," to take place at the

The ladies seem to be more than willing, and the association has much to do to re-strain their impatience. It takes their names and addresses, allows them to fill up forms with a list of their qualifications, asks them to furnish references, and then explains that ere is no intention of sending them out until things are settled.

The association, however, insists on their wholly forgetting Mr. Chamberlain's little matrimonial inducements, and undertaking to go out with a well-defined idea of employment in some useful sphere of labor.

The association will consider no applications for South Africa from the servant class, as labor of this kind is wrought by natives.

TREASURY OFFICIALS ALARMED.

Urge New York Banks to Check Speculation in Wall Street.

Washington, April 16.-Treasury officials are becoming alarmed over the tenacity of the bull fever in the New York stock markets It is feared that overspeculation, if much longer continued, will result in a panio in which the business interests of the country generally will suffer.

The New York banks are being urged to take a more conservative view of the course of speculation and to do something to pre-vent the reaction, viewed here as inevita-ble, from assuming the proportions of a panic.

The primary cause for the alarm of the Government officials is the fact that a great deal of the money of the nation which would ordinarily have been in general circulation has been diverted into Wall street on account of the heavy speculation and that it must be got back into the regular channels before normal conditions resume

Despondencey Caused Charles F

Hoffman to Take His Life.

Charles F. Hoffman, 35 years old, who ived with his widowed mother in the rear of No. 2000 Wash street, shot himself in the forehead, causing almost instant death at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning.

He had been sitting up all night deliberating upon the deed. He was dresed when the body was found. His mother, Mrs. Annie Hoffman, heard the shot and ran to his side, but he was unconscious and died a few minutes afterwards. Policeman Sloan, who was called in had the body removed to the morgue.

Mrs. Hoffman said she could assign to other cause for her son's act than that he was out of work and had been drinking heavily. She will bury the body. Hoffman was a laborer.

FRANK MAJOR PAYS PENALTY OF MURDER.

Hanged at Meadville, Pa., for Killing Chief of Police McGrath of Titusville in a Battle.

Meadville, Pa., April 16.-Frank Major, alias Daniel J. Kehoe, was hanged in the county jail yard at 2:06 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Death resulted in six minutes from strangulation.

Major's crime was the murder of Chief of Police Daniel McGrath of Titusville, Pa., on November 11, 1899. He was a member of a gang that blew open the safe and robbed the Titusville Railroad ticket office and later went to a house on East Spring street, where they intimidated and robbed the inmates.

They were tracked to this place by Chief McGrath and Policeman Sheehy. The gang opened fire at once and Sheehy fell dangerously wounded. McGrath grappled with the man at the door, and, after he had received his own death wound, shot and killed one of the burglars. The other two escaped, but Major was captured the next day.

The dead burglar was never identified and a Philadelphia medical school got his body. Major, it is said, comes of a good family, residing in Grant avenue, Brooklyn. The execution Tuesday was the first in Crawford County in over eighty years.

Albany, N. Y., April 16.—A bill providing for the employment of convicts upon the canal improvement, in case the $25,000,000 improvement plan is accepted by the Legis-lature, was introduced in the Senate Mon-day night by Senator George A. Davis of Buffalo, chairman of the Senate Canal Com-

Buffalo, chairman of the Senate Canal Committee.

The bill is important. Under it 60 per cent of the convicts of the State would be put at work on the canals. They would be guarded by keepers, and suitable buildings would be erected for their accommodation. The expense of their maintenance would be borne by the improvement fund.

It will probably be fought by the labor unions, which oppose any legislation providing for the employment of convicts outside State institutions.

J. Keeffe.

His physicians had given up all hope of saving the life of Doctor Magness, and, fearing that he would not live until the date set for his daughter's wedding, he asked that the marriage take place at once.

Attractive Women.

It has been said that all women sensibly desire to be attractive. Beauty is the stamp of health as it is the outward manifestation of inner purity. Health breeds attractiveness and happiness, and pure blood in the veins is productive of a beauteous flush on the cheek. Impure blood, the doctor tells us, causes bad temper, moroseness and a sailow complexion, and plainly indicates sickness. The Chaitanooga Medicine Company of Chaitanooga, Tenn., are makers of Wine of Cardul, which they claim crowns women with beauty and attractiveness by making strong and healthy those organs which make her a woman. They assure that a trial of Wine of Cardul for one month will work wonders in producing better health. Attractive Women.

CHILD BRINGS ABOUT A SECOND MARRIAGE.

Frederick Nicholas, a Wealthy Cleveland Broker, Will Wed His Former Wife Wednesday.

STORY OF THE SEPARATION.

He Was Engaged to Marry Another Woman, but His Child Brought Him Back to the Feet of First Wife.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

New York, April 16.-"For Marjorie's sake" and through Marjorie's love, Freder ick M. Nicholas and Mrs. Frederick M. Nicholas, parted once by the law's stern decree, will be married for the second time at high noon Wednesday, by the Reverend Doctor William G. Browne of the Swedenborgian Church of Cleveland, O.

The wedding, which will occur at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Hopper, No. 2131 Broadway, this city, is doubly a surprise, as Nicholas, until a few days ago was engaged to marry a Miss Murphy, a Cleveland belle.

Their first marriage took place in Cleveland nearly twenty years ago. Both were hardly more than children then. Fred hardly more than children them. Fre-Micholas was the son of a wealthy ship-owner. His bride was a daughter of one of the Standard Oll Company's founders, and a sister of Charles F. Hopper, the "Chimmie Fadden" of the stage. Each has since inherited a fortune.

Scandal Led to Separation.

There were periods of storm and stress. The Nicholases separated. Through the good offices of friends, they were brought together again. Then little Marjorie came and things looked bright again. But three years ago there was a bitter scandal, another separation, and Mrs. Nich-olas got a divorce decree. Marjorie was 6. She knew nothing of the tragedy in her parents' lives. "Papa was away," they told her, and she was satis-Mr. Nicholas continued to reside in Cleve-

While preparing for his second marriage, Mr. Nicholas came to his city on a visit and put up at the Wal-Child Brought About a Meeting.

He sent word to his former wife that he was here, and requested her to allow Marjorle to virit him at his hotel.

father.

Naturally it was "Mamma" she prattled about to "Papa," On her return home, it was "Lovely Papa" that she talked of to her mother.

A correspondence, the first in three years, was the result of Marjorle's visit. Finally Nicholas called on his wife at her mother's home. The old affection revived. Mr. Nicholas hurried back to Cleveland, where he told Miss Murphy that the old love was the stronger and she, with a woman's fortitude, bade him farewell.

Last week Mr. Nicholas came back to

In vain were Doctor Hyatt's efforts to quiet them. Miss Spring was driven almost into hysterics and cried so hard that Doctor Hyatt raised an umbrella for fear her tears would overwhelm him. All together it was a wild night in the weather nursery. But the good Doctor promises better things for Thursday.

"I am somewhat of a baseball fan myself," said he Tuesday, "and I intend to see that opening game Thursday. The sun is going to shine for me that day, and if St. Louis don't win it will not be my fault. While the day will be fair, it will also be cool—an ideal baseball day.

"St. Louis is almost in the center of a low," which brought considerable rain and thunder-storms over Kansas and Nebraska Monday night. All the country west of this is covered by a well-developed 'high,' which is rapidly following up the 'low.' This 'high' is bringing colder weather, and according to present observations, there will be a heavy frost Wednesday morning. Then for a few days it should be fair with a higher thermometer."

REFUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, April 16.—In the best of spirits, Earnest Russeil Bartlett, a young man of leisure and wealth, drove away in a covert cart from the Benedick at No. 89 Washington Square, east, about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. Three hours later he was dead, his skull crushed and his neck broken.

He was returning home at a lively pace down St. Nicholas avenue, about half past 7 o'clock, and had reached One Hundred and Elighteenth street, when the wheel struck and passed over a big rock in the middle of the street. Such was the jolt that Mr. Bartlett was thrown from his high seat and half fell over the dashboard. His head, however, struck the steel tire of the wheel with such force that he became unconscious and there he hung, half his body over the side of the dashboard. The jolt started the horse, the slackening of the reins gave him his head and off he started on a wild dash. As he ran, Mr. Bartlett's head fell between the wheel and the side of the dashboard, and there it remained. At One Hundred and Seventeenth street Frederick Kelly and George Kluch jumped out into the street and brought the horse to a standstill.

It was found that Mr. Bartlett was still breathing, but he was then dying. It was impossible to extricate him from his postition until the wheel of the cart had been removed. Then his body fell to the pavement and was carried to a neighboring drug store.

After describing our voices as delightfully soothing, Miss Wilcox "switches off at a tangent" and heartily condemns our modes of transport.

Noto once did she obtain absolute physical comfort, although she paid lavishly to obtain it. Her sole recompense lay in a species of "mental and spiritual balm composed of the excessive politeness and repose of all classes that I encountered."

She never heard an oath nor an angry word in the most crowded streets. Cab drivers seem to have been on their best behavior on the occasion of her visit, as the poetess describes them as being "universally courteous to one another, and the most expert drivers in the world."

But, on the other hand, Miss Wilcox was "panied by the spaniel-like acceptance of the brutal kick of the British Government toward its people during the week of national mourning."

No good can come, she is sure, from such servility to a Government, and the attitude of American minds in such matters, though cheaply familiar and full of bravado, will eventually evolve something better for humanity.

Finally, we learn that as a nation we are slow both mentally and physically. "The most deliberate Yankee," she concludes, "is two days quicker than the most rapid Eng-

Doctor Herron's Wife to Give Him Up to Woman He Loves.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Grinnell, Ia., April 18.—That Miss Carrie Rand, the wealthy benefactress of Doctor George D. Herron, will marry the social reformer within a few days seems now assured. This is acknowledged by those in close touch with the Rand family. A prominent member of the lowa College faculty is reported to have said that the marriage might occur within a couple of weeks, and would, in any case, take place before June. In Grinnell it is said that Mrs. Herron has acted as did John Ruskin, and has given up her husband to the woman for whom he professed greater love than he felt for the mother of his children. Miss Rand, though not considered beautiful, is whom he professed greater love than he felt for the mother of his children. Mise Rand, though not considered beautiful, is cultured and accomplished.

It is known that Doctor Herron does not believe in marriage, but in this he is not followed by his friend. Miss Rand is supposed to be worth almost 1,000,000 in her own right, and of this she has already spent much in philanthropy.
